Expense Summary Highlights

- The highest expense is related to Madison Poole's expenditure on Project Kestrel, amounting to AUD 4,736.00, which has been rejected.
- The majority of the pending expenses are associated with office supplies for projects Harbor, Fathom, and Echo, with amounts ranging from AUD 3,957.00 to AUD 4,361.00.
- Amber Wright's expense for Project Basalt, totaling AUD 3,615.00, is also pending approval and pertains to conference-related activities.

Variance and Observations

- The rejected expense for Madison Poole indicates a potential review or dispute regarding the expenditure on Project Kestrel.
- Pending approvals for office supplies suggest ongoing procurement processes that may impact departmental budgets upon final approval.
- The concentration of high expenses in office supplies across multiple projects reflects the department's operational needs for project execution and resource allocation.

Conclusion

The Engineering department's expense profile as of May 7, 2025, reveals a focus on procurement activities, with several expenses awaiting approval. The department continues to manage its expenditures actively, with oversight from Cristian Santos. Future reviews should focus on pending approvals to ensure budget adherence and operational efficiency.
